This 12 volt diesel heater seems to have very low hours on it and comes complete including lots of ducting, fuel lines, installation and maintenance manual, and owners manual. This heater is configured for a boat but would work well for any diesel vehicle. This heater is labelled Volvo Ardic 041-D but its made by Webasco.

Many thanks to Mick Nelmes for the "My Ardic Boat Heater" guidance on operation and servicing. A 34 page Service Manual can be found in the Members-only "Documents" area. I found this useful when I had to clean the burner chamber which was heavily fouled with carbon deposits and causing a lot of soot deposits on the boat around the exhaust.

I have wired up the old heat exchanger fan motor to the output of the new heater, so when the heater gets up to around 50 degrees it switches the fan on like the old Ardic did. The new heater heats the whole system and engine in a round 1/2 an hour. when the whole system is up to temperature the new heater reduces its output to around 1.5 Kw ...
