Some preaching is like the winter sun: it brightly illuminates the mind but leaves the heart cold. Other sermons are like cotton candy: they taste sweet but contain no substantial nutrients. Biblical sermons, however, need both heat and substance—a conviction at the core of the great Reformed tradition of experiential preaching.

In fact, John the Baptist came preaching repentance - Matt 3:2; Mark 1:15. Many think that salvation is linked to a one-time casual prayer in which you invite Christ into your heart and poof you're a Christian now. Many Bible experts and prophecy teachers preach and teach this but it is not found in Scripture!

Introduction The first chapter of the book serves as a general introduction to all the writings in the collection, including it in most of the themes of the book. The chapter falls into four sections: the indictment of Israel's sin, the rejection of their hypocritical attempt at reconciliation, the gracious invitation of Yahweh, and a lament over the state of the nation.
